FROM THE EDITOR

Welcome to the AUGUST / SEPTEMBER Issue of the Magazine. Schools out, summer has begun (and the mizzle returned). At least we did have blissful weather for a little while, and the hay was mostly harvested whilst the sun shone (see our wonderful cover and page 35).

In this Issue we have an extra special pull-out centre spread featuring the Cardinhan 44th Annual Flower & Vegetable Show - yes! It's back! Which onions will be the best? Who's chutney ticks all the boxes? The Show will be held on Saturday 3rd Sept. Hope to see you all there.

Have a super Summer everyone!

Sending wishes to you all,

Lizzy, Polly, Gill, Simon, Marc and Julia

Libby, Churchwarden

Dear Friends,

This dry and hot weather reminded me of the well-known phrase about making hay while the sun shines. I can see that many of my neighbours have been doing just that – or haylage. Many of Jesus' parables and sayings drew on local contemporary farming practices.

Perhaps one of the most memorable ones is the parable of the sower. Jesus pictures a man sowing seed – imagine a bag of seed over the shoulder and handful being scattered – a far cry from today's computerised, GPS controlled machinery model. Some falls on the path and is trampled on, some falls on rocky soil, quickly sprouts then withers, some gets choked by weeds and some falls on fertile soil where it flourishes and bears fruit.

Jesus is not trying to teach his hearers about agriculture but a spiritual lesson about how we respond to God's word. When Jesus explains the parable to the disciples He makes this clear. The seed is the word of God. The seed that fell on the path are like people who hear God's word but it goes in one ear and out the other, not taking root. That which falls on stony ground is like people who hear God's word and respond initially but when testing times come they fall away. Similarly with those choked by weeds – the word of God is choked out by the troubles and cares of this world. The final, fruitful group are those who hear and respond to God's word, allowing it to flourish and be fruitful.

May we be in that fruitful group.

Every blessing, John Hereward

Our final entry this academic year is dedicated to our Year 6 group

Now that you've finished Year 6,

Your adventure has truly begun.

Your primary schooling has prepared you

For the race life has you run.

We praise you for your efforts,

And send good wishes, too.

We wish for you a future filled with happiness,

And hope your fondest dreams come true.

We wish for you a joy-filled transition from Cardinham School to the wide world of accomplishment and success.

We wish for you new, stimulating friendships,

while you also cherish old friends,

who provide continuity and comfort.

We wish for you a smooth path

on your journey to your chosen destination,

and as much delight in your off-road adventures too.

Congratulations, Year 6!

May the world embrace you, excite you,

and strengthen you in everything you do.

I expect by the time you read this the 'heat wave' may be receding. However, it does come as a welcome relief when the weather is the main topic of conversation rather than politics.

Everyone is having supply issues at present and our dairyman can no longer source organic milk. There is still milk in glass bottles to save using plastic, but it is not organic. Some items have disappeared from our list as they are either too expensive or not available. However the local beef and chicken we get is still an excellent buy, so stock up for the month. I am also told there will be some lamb available shortly.

ADVANCE NOTICE

Due to an event involving our volunteers we would like to bring collection forward to 11.00 – 12.00 just on the 11th August. If this is not convenient for you please do let me know as alternative arrangements can be made.

CARDINHAM PARISH COUNCIL

Cardinham Parish Council organised a free BBQ and Beacon for parishioners to celebrate Queen Elizabeth's Platinum Jubilee.

We were very lucky with the weather the Beacon was lit at 9.45pm and as it was such a clear night we were able to see several other beacons in the distance.

Thanks go to Steve Best for building such an impressive Beacon and to everyone who helped. Here are some photos from the Beacon and Jubilee Afternoon Tea held at the Parish Hall. Thanks also to John Hereward, Jenny Cruse, Lizzy Smart, Rachael Farley-Claridge and Jenny Saunter for the images below:

CARN TO COVE

At long last Carn to Cove performances have returned to Village Halls.
The Hall Committee is pleased to present :-

'PAULUS - LOOKING FOR ME FRIEND'

JUBILEE HALL, MOUNT
FRIDAY 16TH SEPTEMBER 7.30pm

A funny and touching tribute to this much-loved and sorely-missed national treasure, Victoria Wood.

Written and performed by BBC1's All Together Now star, Paulus, ('King of Cabaret', The Stage) this brand-new show sees him in a fresh light as a lifelong fan and devotee of the Queen of Comedy.

Celebrate her unforgettable characters, songs and sketches and the power of friendships forged through laughter. From Mrs. Overall to Barry & Freda, everyone is there. The only thing that's missing is you.

'If you are a fan of Wood, or simply feel the need for some uplifting, live entertainment, then this is a must see (4 Stars)'

MILLPOOL METHODIST CHURCH NEWS

Since the last newsletter, we have joined in with the parish celebration of the Queen's Jubilee, held our first whist drive, welcomed our new minister, Mo, when she took her first service at Millpool and held a Summer Fete as well as continuing with our regular activities. Chorale practice, Crafternoon and Coffee morning will not take place in August but will resume in September.

A few days before our Fete, four baby hedgehogs (hoglets) were found in Millpool. They are now in the care of Prickles and Paws at Cubert where they will remain until they weigh in at 300gms! It was felt appropriate to send a donation to them from profit made at the fete.

Our Crafternoons are still proving popular with a variety of activities taking place. In September we are offering an opportunity, for anyone who is interested, to join in a workshop making Christmas decorations. So come along if you are interested. Bring scissors, thread etc. If you don't have any suitable fabric there will be some available.

Our Harvest Festival is on Sunday 16th October, starting with lunch at 1.00pm, followed by a service at 3.00pm, led by Rod Harrison. More details in the next Magazine.

The Chorale are hoping to put on a concert at the end of September. Watch the noticeboard for more details nearer the time.

Enjoy the rest of the summer!

LBJ's [Little brown jobs]

In the birding world the term LBJ's is used to refer to all the little brown jobs, i.e. all the small brownish sparrows, finches, warblers, etc. It is also used for butterflies. There are quite a few brown butterflies, which like the birds deserve a closer look as they are not as plain and boring as they may initially appear. In this article I am featuring three that are worth looking out for and can be seen into autumn.

Speckled Wood Pararge aegeria

This smart brown butterfly can be seen from March to October. It prefers shady places in woodlands but can be seen along hedgerows and in gardens. The adult butterflies that we see live for barely a week. The females will lay single eggs on the underside of a wide variety of grass leaves and up to three generations will hatch in a year so there are always some on the wing. The Speckled Wood is unusual in that it can overwinter either as a caterpillar [larval stage] or a pupa [chrysalis].

Food Plants. The caterpillars which are bright green with faint dark green and yellow stripes, feed on a wide variety of grasses such as False Broom, Cock's-foot, Yorkshire fog and Couch and it needs a supply of these long grasses all year for successive generations to prosper and maintain the population. The hatched caterpillar will live and feed on the food plant, and can overwinter in the plant's base, so long grass should not be cut too short in the autumn. The butterfly will feed on aphid honeydew in the tree canopy and on flowers and berries in autumn.

Speckled Woods are common butterflies in Cornwall, although they may suffer periodic fluctuations, usually due to poor weather. Wing Span Range (male to female): 47-50mm

Another 'brown job' is the Wall butterfly which is declining in numbers and is now a high conservation priority. As can be seen from the adjoining photograph it is a very handsome insect with distinctively placed spots and linear markings. The Wall favours short, open grassland, where turf is broken or stony. It is also found on dunes and other coastal habitats, as well as disused quarries, derelict land, farm tracks, railway embankments and cuttings, gardens and field edges. As its name suggests it can be seen basking in the sun on Cornish stone walls and the Cornish system of footpath, bridleways and farm tracks provides a favourable habitat as long as they are not trimmed. The first adults emerge in May and the females lay single eggs on the food plants, these produce a second generation which is on the wing in August to September.

Food Plants. The main food plants for the caterpillars are Cock's-foot, Wavy Hair Grass [found just on Bodmin Moor], Common Bent, Yorkshire Fog, False Broom and Annual Meadow grass. These grasses are not found in 'improved' grassland which is why keeping the grass long by hedges and on verges and wild areas is so important. Adults feed primarily on Common Fleabane, Daisy, hawkweeds, knapweeds, Ragged-Robin, ragworts, thistles and Yarrow. Wing Span Range (male to female): 44 - 46mm

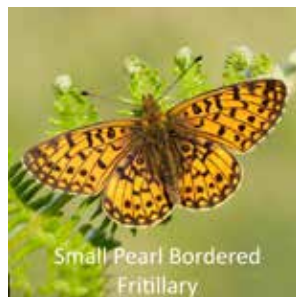

And this one is just for Cardinham parish.

Small Pearl Bordered Fritillary Boloria selene

At one time a colony of the similar and rare Pearl Bordered Fritillary was found in Cardinham [flight period April and May] but none have been sighted since 2014. However there is a small colony of the equally beautiful Small Pearl Bordered Fritillary in Cardinham parish at Bunny's Hill.

Food plants. This butterfly favours grassland, especially damp grassy heath with bracken and scrub. Damp conditions encourage the Marsh Violet to grow and the Common Dog-violet which is the larval food plant. The species is double brooded with the first brood being seen on the wing in May and June with a second brood appearing late July to early September.

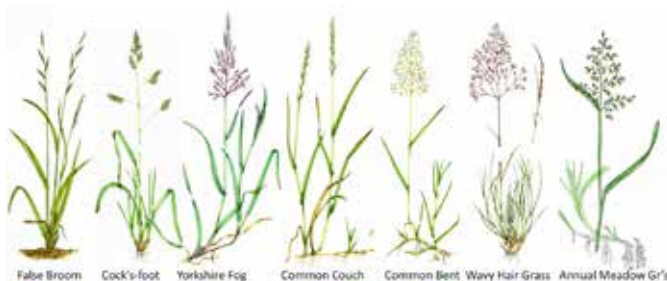

Wing Span Range (male to female): 41-44mm

Destruction of habitat is the primary cause of the loss of colonies, whether by agricultural 'improvement' and fragmentation, overgrazing, growth of scrub or changes to woodland.

If you do see any of these butterflies about I would love to know when and where.

Half of Britain's butterfly species are now on the Red List which means they are threatened with extinction. The main causes are climate change and loss of habitats. The beautiful butterflies we see have a very short life span and will nectar on a wide variety of plants. It is the caterpillar that has a longer life and is more specific about what it will eat, but because they are seldom seen they are not thought about, but without a healthy population of caterpillars there will not be any butterflies. A myriad of caterpillars require grass as their foodplant, those mentioned above as well as Small Skipper, Small Heath, Ringlet, Meadow Brown, Gatekeeper, Marbled White, Grayling and Small Copper. As wild flower meadows become a rarity hedges, verges and gardens become more important as corridors of survival for some species. Short mown grass means barren and boring. Long is beautiful and shows you care about the environment.

✿ CARDINHAM & DISTRICT GARDENING CLUB ✿

Cardinham Gardening Club Report July 2022

This fabulous weather is a mixed blessing for gardeners. Yes, we want sunshine and warmth to ripen and swell fruit and flowers, but we also need moisture, which as I write is in short supply! It has made for lovely garden visits though. The first in June to Endsleigh Hotel Gardens at Milton Abbot, a beautiful house built by the Duke of Bedford two centuries ago, and has 100 acres of gardens designed by Humphry Repton. His brief was to make the gardens reflect the Duchess's home in Argyll. Gosh! What can be achieved if one has the cash! Both are a delight and the tour led by the Head Gardener was informative and entertaining. All completed by tea in the parterre.

In July we went to to two gardens in Dobwalls: Dove Cottage and 9 Higman's Close, both in the NGS booklet and open in August and September too. Both reflect the plant passions of their owners and are gems to visit. So much unusual and interesting design ideas and plants; from Sue's huge succulent collection to Becky's beautiful colour themed areas and clever ideas with mirrors and water features.

Our next major event is the Cardinham Flower & Vegetable Show on 3rd September in Cardinham Parish Hall, see the schedule in the central section of this magazine.

It is also available at the website:

<https://cardinhamgardenclub.wordpress.com/flower-show/>

If you would like to enter either the Men and/or Ladies Cookery Classes please visit our website to follow the standard recipe provided.

We are looking forward to receiving lots of entries after two bleak years! See you then!

In the meantime, enjoy your gardens! Libby

INSCRIBED STONES AT WELLTOWN

With thanks to Karen Dickin

Sitting high on top of the hedge beside the crossroad just north of Welltown, sit two ancient, inscribed stones. These scheduled monuments are early Christian memorial stones c.AD 400-1100 and quite rare, two of only 37 surviving in Cornwall.

The first stone of rough granite is about 1.5m high and in addition to four modern drilled holes it bears an inscription in two lines of capital letters which reads 'VAILATHI FILI VROCHAN' (Vailithus son of Vrochanus or variation thereof). The stone was moved to its current location from Welltown where it was discovered beside an outbuilding.

The second stone measures approximately 1.7m high with the inscription 'ORATE PRO EP iScopus Titus' (this may refer to a bishop Titus) It was moved to the crossroads from Tawna Lane where it was being used as a gatepost. Both stones were first recorded by Langdon in 1906 and relocated to their current locations in 1932.

Over the decades, although periodically cut back, vegetation has grown on the hedge. In June this year there was an urgent need for some clearance work to enable Historic England to undertake some photogrammetry on the stones. This is a recording technique of taking multiple images of an object which is then stitched together using computer software to create a 3D image and uncover fine geometric details.

'Haymaking'

The following is an extract from the poem by Edward Thomas of the same name, which is perfectly suited to our front cover and the photographs supplied by Matthew Barwood of Glebe Farm, featuring Chris Brown hay turning in the old Massey Ferguson tractors.

*... Only the scent of woodbine and hay new-mown
Travelled the road. In the field sloping down,
Park-like, to where its willows showed the brook,
Haymakers rested. The tosser lay forsook
Out in the sun; and the long waggon stood
Without its team, it seemed it never would Move from the shadow of that single yew.
The team, as still, until their task was due,
Beside the labourers enjoyed the shade
That three squat oaks mid-field together made
Upon a circle of grass and weed uncut,
And on the hollow, once a chalk-pit, but
Now brimmed with nut and elder-flower so clean...*

CARDYNHAM CHURCH

I recently went to a talk at Lanivet Church about their wonderful churchyard crosses. I didn't expect to learn more about Cardynham's treasures at the same time. The speakers have produced a book, held by Cornwall Library service - 'Ancient and High Crosses of Cornwall'. From it, I learnt that both Lanivet and Cardinham are of countywide significance, with our collections of crosses and early monuments. Cardinham has "one of the most impressive of Cornish crosses." "The presence of such a prestigious monument at Cardinham is unexplained although the place name, documentary and monumental evidence point to this as a site of both ecclesiastical and secular significance." "It implies the presence in the area of an early landowning ecclesiastic community whose lands must have been lost before the Norman Conquest or alternatively a secular patron who was a predecessor of the powerful Norman earls of Cardinham."

The book has illustrations that show how Cardynham's ancient treasure, the wonderful Cardinham cross, was found by the Victorians embedded in the chancel wall in 1858, removed in 1872 and set up in its present position in 1878. At the top of the south side of the Cardynham cross is an inscription, thought to be a name. The top of the inscription is missing. What is left is supposed to read [A]R[A]H+. Have a look at the cross, can you see any of the inscription? Could it be the name of the powerful church patron from before the Norman conquest?

Our other great treasure is our inscribed pillar stone from 6th / 8th century. It is above the steps to the road with a later cross head on top. Macalister, in his book 'The Duchy of Cornwall' quoted Arthur Langdon: "For many years this stone was found leaning against the outside wall of the churchyard at the SE corner with its narrow end resting in the roadway and its wider end against the wall. In November 1896, it was erected where it now stands." It has an inscription on the north side. Arthur Langdon, in 1896, read it as 'Rancori fili Mesgi' - Rancorus son of Mesgus. It is in Latin, in two parallel lines running down the shaft. 'Ancient and High Crosses of Cornwall' writes that the inscription is in one line and only 3 letters are legible 'ORI' with maybe an N before them. It is also probably in Latin, indicating the name of the person commemorated by the stone. Langdon's illustration of the inscription is here.

When I looked at the shaft I could only clearly see the line at the top, but thought I could make out two lines of text. Can anyone else do better?

These two monuments in our churchyard connect us to the deep past, to a time when Cardynham wasn't the quiet backwater it is today. In a stressful summer, come and enjoy the peace of this sacred space and perhaps try to figure out its mysteries.

Cornwall Councillor Jenny Cruse

I hope you all enjoyed the Jubilee weekend. I really had a great time, and it was so good to see everyone making the most of being out and about and having fun. With such a variety of events from dancing at Withiel to attending the service and blessing of the tree at Blisland, and the splendid BBQ provided by Cardinham PC it was truly a memorable weekend. Our Sovereign has a special place in the hearts of her people, and it is so good to continue to see the lovely Jubilee flower displays created by the Garden Club all around the village.

Now the fine weather is with us and the long evenings are here there is more time to enjoy our beautiful county. However, I was very concerned to read a report from the Cornwall Wildlife Trust which showed there was a threefold increase in disturbance to coastal and marine wildlife. Disturbance causes anxiety and abandonment, which can lead to predation or starvation. I proposed a Motion to Full Council which detailed additional measures I feel we need to have in place to prevent this worrying and sad increase. Consideration for disturbance of all wildlife should be part of our way of dealing with wildlife encounters. If you see any incidence of concern such as nests being disturbed, cetaceans being harassed by boats, or kayak/SUPS or seals being displaced from their caves please contact Operation Seabird on 01825 765546 or 0345 201 2626. Operation Seabird is a national partnership between the Police and Maritime Marine Organisation, businesses, and the public to raise awareness of the sensitivities of our coastline and reduce pressure on our wildlife and their habitats.

The AONB Management Plan 22-27 has been adopted by Cabinet and will be an important consideration going forward in funding, and engagement with our community as well as holding weight in planning matters. The document is interactive and deals with each AONB separately. It is an excellent read and well worth looking at all 277 pages and represents a huge amount of research and work.

With fuel costs going through the roof, I am sure like all of us, are now thinking carefully about our car journeys and trying to link up jobs and visits together to reduce road miles. Car sharing is back as an option. Unfortunately, the demand has not come forward for a bus route to my ward villages so going forward please do let me know if you have any particular difficulties with transport and I can make some suggestions.

Wishing you all a very happy summer and let us hope this glorious weather continues, with of course some convenient nighttime rain.

Best wishes, Jenny
