FROM THE EDITOR

Hi everyone,

Welcome to the June / July magazine and as we write this, the sun has been shining for a few weeks now with more good weather forecast - even with a Bank Holiday thrown into the mix! Unheard of!

We hope you like the 'Spotlight on Millpool' on page 13 and on page 21 we share with you the very touching and heartfelt Eulogy from Gerald's funeral - thanks to Sheila and Norma for allowing us to publish it.

On page 24 there are some photos from the fabulous Tim Keat's Tractor Run, and throughout this issue lots of you have shared your photos from Coronation celebrations and what you've been up to, thank you. Without your contributions there would be no magazine!

Sending best wishes to you all,

Lizzy, Polly, Simon, Marc, Peter and Julia

Dear Friends,

Wasn't the Coronation a splendid occasion? No matter whether you are a monarchist or a republican, one can't help but admire the pageantry and history on display. It was obviously a great show with stunning music, brilliant costumes and the wonderful historic setting of Westminster Abbey, but what was the underlying significance? What kind of King is Charles III going to be?

When Jesus was born, King Herod was worried. He felt threatened by talk of a new king being born. He failed to understand that Jesus was a different kind of king with a very different kingdom. Perhaps the clearest definition of His kingship, which was echoed in the coronation service, was when Jesus said that He had come not to be served but to serve. Jesus was and is a servant king.

He demonstrated this when washing His disciple's feet at the Last Supper. Not only did Jesus see His kingship in this way, He also commanded His followers to copy His example – to live out their lives in self-sacrificial service. We see this played out in all kinds of ways in our own community and in countless unseen ways too.

So as King Charles pledged to serve us, so may we serve others in our daily lives.

Blessings, John Hereward

Bodmin Then and Now.

Kresen Kernow, which is the home to the collection of books, documents, maps etc related to Cornwall's history, is digitalising thousands of glass negatives taken by George Ellis – an eminent photographer who lived in Bodmin. Through workshops run by Henwyn Collective several of us were able to see some of his work. He photographed all aspects of Bodmin life. We have now set up this group which we have called Bodmin Now and Then and we are sharing some of his pictures on Facebook, hoping that people will be able to make comments to establish time, place, memories etc. By doing that we can enhance the work of George Ellis and the life and times of Bodmin.

We appreciate that not everyone uses social media so we are contacting village magazine readers. We meet for informal chats over coffee at Bodmin Old Library and if you would like to join us you would be very welcome. We do not have a regular meeting time so if you would like to email us we can update you. Email bodminthenandnow@gmail.com. We look forward to hearing from you.

Village Greens

Village Greens is a not-for-profit group run by volunteers, serving the community for over 10 years.

Our objective is to provide a cost effective alternative for those who are concerned about what they eat, where it comes from and how it is packaged. Our food products are either organic or local or fair trade. We can provide meat that is organic and/or local. Our dairy supplier can supply milk in glass bottles and most of the dairy products are Cornish. We also stock cleaning materials which are environmentally friendly. To help you reduce single-use plastic many of the products come in 5 litre containers. We also buy food items in bulk and bag them in smaller quantities to help keep prices down.

If you are interested, just email vilaverde@btinternet.com and I can send you the current weekly shopping list. Our collection day is Thursday between 3 - 4.

The sun is shining - let's play tennis!

Old or young, fast or slow, experienced or new to the game, come and play tennis. Let us help you find people to play with. We have a group of moderate players playing in the morning; a harder-hitting group in the evening, and there's a group for the less agile, enjoying a bit of 'slow tennis'.

Play with members as a guest for £3, or hire the court for £7.50 an hour (£10 for 2 hours), or get free access to the court as a member (£15 a year for a junior, £55 adult, £90 couple, or £105 family).

And remember, all children attending Cardinham School enjoy free access to the court, not only for activities organised by the school, but also outside of school. Must be supervised by a responsible adult at all times.

Coronation Pop Up Pub

A good time was had by all at the Coronation Pop-Up Pub in Cardinham Parish Hall. Many thanks to the team that organised this.

THANK YOU!

Would like to thank everyone for their generosity during Mary's unexpected weeks in Treliske Hospital followed by an operation at Derriford. Many thanks for visitors, flowers, cards, enquires and food: pies, meats, pasties, crumbles and many cakes. Larry was well-looked after, Mary was also when she returned home. Mary's recovery is going well. The kindness shown to them has totally blown them away.

Much love to you all.

Larry and Mary Penter

Little Downs, Cardinham has lost a lovely neighbour and member of our small community with the sudden passing of Suzie Skuse after a short break in France and looking forward to the installation of her new Kitchen. Everyone we know will miss seeing her riding the Lanes on her bicycle and greeting all those she met on her journeys. Our hearts and thoughts are with husband Derek and all the family. If anyone wishes to donate to Suzie's favourite charity, please log on to Google's Just Giving and put in her name. We will be thinking of her on Monday 15th May 2023 for her Funeral in Redruth with love.

Brenda & John Smith.

May she rest in peace - Ed.

Rachael Farley and her parents homebred Arab gelding Indus bin Ali successfully completed a 64 km one day endurance ride at Endurance GB Colquite ride last month. The pair enjoyed the Camel Valley trails and private woodland, and stopped for a compulsory mid-way vet check and take on vital supplies!

The combination are aiming for 80 km at Boconnoc next month, which Jo & Peter Claridge are hosting, along with 20 other distance classes over two days on 17th - 18th June.

Rachael also came 3rd in her class and won a horse food voucher which Indie will certainly appreciate. Rachael's son Ollie and husband Adam did a fabulous job at navigating narrow lanes to find the combination out on course which is always good fun in Adam's classic Landrover Defender!

SPOTLIGHT ON MILLPOOL

Millpool Methodist Church, hopefully you know where we are! Just in case, we're only ten minutes from Bodmin, in the parish of Cardinham, just off the A30 on the edge of Bodmin Moor. What's the image in your mind? A sleepy little old fashioned church perhaps? Well, that's not us! We're anything but sleepy or old fashioned, although we do proudly believe we retain some good old fashioned Cornish welcome and charm!

Our weekly choir practise during Covid, well that was something else! We Zoomed! A completely unknown phenomenon, we sounded more like a Cat's Choir! But being good "moorlanders" we didn't give in! We quickly found the mute button and realised we had to sing to ourselves or any unfortunate being within hearing! We persevered and learnt Tears in Heaven and even made a video of this. The Millpool Chorale is a group of about 20 ladies who have given many concerts over the past 30 plus years, the most recent being a concert at Mount, on Good Friday. You're very welcome to come along 7.15 on a Monday evening to Millpool Community Room to see if you might be interested in joining the Choir.

Our Zoom Sunday evening Quiz was another highlight of the week and meant people still saw each other's happy smiling faces! Covid was a tricky time but we opened up as soon as we were allowed, although appreciating the online resources, we were so pleased to get back to having our Church Services again, we're a sociable bunch! Like every group we never quite returned to "normal" but we're still going strong. We are so grateful to all those who put their offering on standing order as this allowed us to be financially viable throughout this time. Have we returned to what we were? Well, we're getting there!

Our regular groups in our very own warm space i.e. Coffee Morning, Book Club, Crafternoon, Kidz Club on first Sunday of the month and the Millpool Chorale are enjoyed by many. We finished 2022 with Millpool's Christmas Party! A very lively event with about 50 people and many children having a wild time! We played games, Pass the Parcel and I'm going to say it "Little Willy" which has always been such fun and a great tradition. We moved the chairs, we had a small set of disco lights and of course a fabulous buffet and, wow, did we have some wild kids, having the time of their life! The adults weren't far behind! So far this year we've held a Quiz and a Games (Card and Board Games) afternoon, after which one child was heard to say "that was a very lovely afternoon"! A little appreciation makes all the effort worthwhile. More recently, our Coronation Sunday Celebrations were enjoyed by approx 50 people. We even had to bring more chairs into the Chapel for the 30 minute All Age Service. We haven't had to do that for a very long time! The bluebells and wood anemones on the walk were beautiful and we are very grateful to everyone who brought food, came to the event and shared in the buffet lunch. We would love to welcome more people from the Community to our events, just take your pick, you never know you might even enjoy it!

We regularly collect for the Food Bank and endeavour to help many charities. Our Christmas Card fund raised £80 for Action for Children, we raised funds and donated £350 to Shelterbox and £325.00 to the Turkey and Syria Earthquake Disaster Fund. Our Coffee Morning at the end of March raised £350 for Cornwall Air Ambulance and the well renowned Millpool's BIG BREAKFAST in April, served up 60 full English and raised £400 (due to the generosity of members helping with expenses) for our own funds. This will enable us to keep going and doing throughout the year!

We don't worship our building but we do care for it to the best of our ability. We have recently replaced our kitchen for which we paid £1 over thirty years ago. To cut a long story short, Howdens gave us an approx 80% discount on a new kitchen and John said he was happy to do the work for us, a fully indentured tradesman! No dallying around, no fussing over colours, after all you will never find 20 people who like the same thing, and does it really matter! We had worked our kitchen long and hard over the years and now mainly because of his hard work and dedication we have a kitchen of which we are very proud!

Over the years our members have all dedicated much time and energy to Millpool Methodist Church, we are very grateful. Alongside this members have, for example, helped to organise the Cardinham Helpline to help parishioners and provide the monthly lunch to fund this, and to this day are still regularly cooking, aided by committee members. Friends of St Petroc's Homeless Charity (Bodmin Group) was also set up by a member of our Chapel, with others as Committee Members, although sadly housing people is difficult at the moment because of the shortage of affordable properties, other members are actively working within the surrounding villages where they live.

Hope you enjoyed this snapshot of life at our Church! We would be very pleased to welcome you at a Sunday Service or one of our events for all ages! There's no pressure to come along weekly or to do or to give! We're happy to see you at any time. Just open the door and we know there will be a smiling face to greet you!

Shirley Doran

Norman Gerald Worden sadly passed away on 30th March 2023. He will be greatly missed by our community. Here, Sheila and Norma share his Eulogy that Chris Little read at his funeral, our thoughts are with you.

EULOGY

Gerald was a fiercely independent bugger, hated being ill, hated being dependant on others - tolerated me and Chris Line to help him get out and about- Chris became known as butler-even Jan has been known to refer to him as such. I was introduced to all and sundry as his minder.

We spent a lot of time in the car and he loved travelling about his old stomping ground around Mount - every house had a tale to tell, most fields he knew who planted it, when and what the yield was, but mostly it was about old characters. As his health declined our trips out tailed off but the stories continued.

He was born and raised on a farm near Mount, didn't get to school much as the demands for the farm took precedence but he grew big, strong, bright and full of mischief. For example, another lad was flaunting his new push bike but was horrified to find it missing from outside the house, a fortnight later he was the last person in the village to notice it hanging from the foot peg of a telegraph pole where Gerald had hung it.

A young couple married and returned from honeymoon - lit the fire, the fire wouldn't draw and the bungalow filled with smoke, so they made the fire out, fetched the rods, looked up the chimney and couldn't understand it, they could see daylight. Gerald had cemented a pane of glass over the top of the chimney!

The village was spared from greater excesses when Gerald discovered other avenues to expend his energy in various sports and wooing Sheila. Often relying on brute strength, vigour, enthusiasm and competitiveness rather than speed or skill he enjoyed considerable success. He wasn't bad at sport either!

He was a natural horseman, he helped break in 'Lonesome Boy' a champion Point to Point hunter and he was once rodeo champion of Cornwall. He competed well in most games and past times but found his true vocation as a second row forward for Liskeard/ Looe RFC. He combined the strength of a cart horse with the speed and grace of a racehorse and the brains of a rocking horse.

He proudly held the record of being the first member of the team to be sent off, but the pinnacle of his playing career came in 1956 when they played bitter rivals Launceston, who they had never beaten. A wager ensued and after the game which sounds more like a war of attrition, Liskeard/Looe romped home 3-0! The wager was honoured and to the victors went the spoils - the mascot from the clubhouse. Sadly nowhere in Liskeard or Looe would house it, and so the Hole in the Wall in Bodmin became the proud recipient of a glass cased lion where it resides to this day.

Despite his love of rugby and disinterest in soccer he saw the need for physical activity for the burgeoning youth of Mount. (not least his own burgeoning youth- pointing at Paul) He helped Frank Atkinson set up and run Mount FC, and to this day one or other of his “boys” - now hoary 60 year old farmers and tradesmen- would stop by to visit “The Gaffer”.

He was also active in Warleggan YFC, served as president and most importantly taught generations of farmers to weld. He had a natural aptitude for engineering, loved to see how things worked, and if he once saw something he could reproduce it. Gerald, with Sheila’s cousin Keith, went into business making spreaders and rollers and had a factory on Walker Lines opposite Barnecutts.

If he had his time again he told me he would have been a mason as he loved working in stone, but he was born to farm. Father had run sheep, But Gerald found them just daft and had a tendency to wonder off and die. He ran a dairy herd but felt tied to it every day, and gave that up when they changed from churns to tankers. He didn’t mind rearing beef but found the return minimal, he raised pigs- loved his pigs- built innovative pig houses, trouble was it was more like working with people - whenever one fell in the slurry pit he would dive in to save it, and they would both need hosing off in the yard - and it broke his heart to see them go off to slaughter. Of course, he had grown up with horses, working heavies and breaking hunters and felt it was cruel on horses, too time consuming and too expensive, so when Norma and Paul wanted a pony, a compromise had to be reached - get a donkey!! Donkeys are deceptively strong, resilient, loyal, cunning, intelligent, mischievous and strong willed (some might say stubborn) all housed in a compact body not immediately attractive and with a reputation of stupidity- Gerald had found his soul mate!

Together Gerald and Henry-then Humphrey, Harry, Dino, Jimmy and Basil could take on the world. The possibilities were endless, every carnival, nativity play, school visit, donkey derby, hospital fete and summer weekends at Jamaica Inn dressed as a bumpkin, no-one was safe. He’d found his true forté, dressing up, playing the fool, working with donkeys and liberating unsuspecting visitors from their holiday money for charity. He had the uncanny knack of aiming jokes that were a little risqué but didn’t offend, he could talk to anyone and treated everyone exactly the same. He and Henry got into a few scrapes such as at St Columb carnival when the village copper wanted to know what was in the back of the truck “oh, a lion” said Gerald. The copper looked in and Henry hooted and kicked up such a ruckus - exit copper, stage left!

Then there was the time after appearing at Truro cathedral, Sheila was leading Henry around Trafalgar roundabout to get back to the trailer, Gerald went the other way around it so Henry stopped and dragged Sheila back around the roundabout to walk with him!

His friendship with Frank Atkinson and his ability to raise money for charity got him invited to join the Lions Club of Bodmin, and he proved to be a stalwart of the club. His drive and personal contacts made the Ten Tors walk- now in its 40th year - possible. The same is true of the charity fun-ride and the swimathon. Of course, all these activities included him volunteering Sheila's services too! He served the club as president several times and represented it at zone, district and national level. A frequent prank played when presidents take office is to steal the ceremonial gavel. When Gerald became president for the 3rd time he made 40 spares which he carried in a bag (produce spare gavel from pocket).

Gerald, being Gerald, took this simple prank to a nuclear level. At a very formal District Governors hand-over dinner, Gerald blagged his way early into the dining room to "check the seating" and stole the gavel. At the start of the meal everyone trooped in and stood to await the top table guests to be announced. The Master of Ceremonies couldn't find the gavel - "We won't proceed until it is returned" silence, with everyone looking around trying to identify the guilty party - followed by a clatter as the gavel falls off Ken Clarke's chair (previous District Governor and close friend of Gerald). Ken did the walk of shame and the meal proceeded. Dear old Ken went to his grave a few years ago still blissfully unaware that it was Gerald that had done it.

Gerald was also a great supporter of the Christmas sleigh, for many years around the villages and occasionally in Bodmin. The time Brian Liggatt hadn't properly attached the trailer and it detached, careering Santa, sleigh and sweets down Rhind Street can never be forgotten.

A friend of mine was once asked in a pub quiz "what is the first sense to go when you die" After some deliberation he replied "humour". Well, that certainly was not the case with Gerald. In his final days he would raise his mood and 'perform' for his many visitors, charming the nursing and caring staff and joking with the GP. Sadly it took its toll and he found it increasingly tiring. When we knew the end was near he thoroughly enjoyed making plans for this service and the do at the Rugby club. He insisted I spoke so there would be "a bit of humour"- in truth, I think he would have liked to have done this bit himself but accepted the practicalities.

Then we had time to talk about his beliefs - he didn't bother with church or chapel, but respected those who do - "We'll have The Lords Prayer because Sheila would like that".

He did believe in what I call Cornish karma, treat everyone as you would want to be treated, one day you may be in need, he often said to me how lucky he was that people were prepared to help him, of course he couldn't see that it was payback for all the help he had given.

If something is good, maintain it - if something can be better, improve it. This mantra is reflected in every piece of land he farmed every machine he owned or adapted and in every relationship he had. He loved this little corner of the world but saw himself as its custodian, maintaining and improving it for the generations to come.

He didn't believe in heaven or hell or an afterlife - felt it would be far too crowded. He did believe that we live on in our loved ones hearts and memories and hoped that those memories would raise a smile.

And now a final piece of advice from the wisest fool I've known to the people he held most dear- "Do try to be good, but if you can't, at least be good at it"!

A warning to non-gardeners.

So you think this is just a pretty wild flower.

But beware. This is in fact the Three-Cornered Leek - Allium triquetrum.

It is an invasive non-native plant, listed on Schedule 9 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act. It is therefore an offence to introduce this plant to the wild in the UK. It is also controlled under EU regulations to which we are still subject. It is easily recognised, and distinguished from wild garlic and similar alliums. The flowers themselves are white and bell-shaped, resembling bluebells. The stalks, having three corners, are triangular in shape. It has long thin leaves that have parallel veins with a deep central keel, and it grows from a small white bulb. And it smells of onions.

It can be found in dappled shade, grass verges, waste ground and gardens.

It is not, as yet, such a serious problem as Japanese knotweed or Himalayan balsam, but other parts of the country are far worse affected than Cardinham. However it is increasing, and you can see patches near the Holywell road junction to Cardinham, for example. Knowledgeable gardeners in the Parish have been wisely digging it up as soon as they see the first shoot.

If you see it, dig it up before it gets a hold, but dispose of it carefully to avoid spreading it. Glyphosate can also be effective if you do not mind using sprays.

Most important, don't be fooled! Get rid of it.

It's not a protected pretty wild flower that you must not pick!

Cardinham Parish Council discussed this at its May meeting, and felt it might help parishioners. Thank you Archie and Pauline Bonker for bringing this to our attention.

Fancy taking your dog out for a tasty meal?
Then head over to The London Inn, St Neot!
Who's a good boy, then?

Cardinham & District Gardening Club

Gardening Club Report May 2023

Club members and friends enjoyed two visits since the last newsletter. In March we visited Rose Morran, near St Columb. We were warmly welcomed by Peter and Jenny Brandreth to their garden which they have established in the last 10 years. Peter gave us a guided tour and explained what they had undertaken, altering the levels and planting up the various beds with a selection of shrubs. We finished the afternoon with a super selection of tea and cakes, sitting in the sunny garden.

In May we were very lucky to be invited by Doff Green to afternoon tea in her orchard and a look around her charming cottage garden. Doff was one of the founder members of the gardening club in 1989, when a group of us got together to see if there was any interest in forming a club in Cardinham. 34 years later we are still going strong with a membership of nearly 60. Doff acted as a most efficient and warm secretary for many years. Her distinctive cursive handwriting reflects her warm and generous nature. Doff reminded us of this, as she along with her girls and their children, so generously hosted a glorious afternoon, in the shade of the apple trees her husband planted. She invited us to walk around her pretty cottage garden in the picturesque hamlet of Trequite. A real treat!

Our next meeting is towards the end of June when we are due to visit Bodmin Airfield's wildflower meadows. The date is to be confirmed as it depends when the orchids come into flower! Look out for notices or the website.

The Annual Social is towards the end of July, date to be confirmed, and don't forget the Annual Flower & Vegetable Show is on Saturday 2nd September. Lots to look forward to!

Note Cardinham Gardens are open for the National Garden Scheme on Sunday July 9th. The Gardens open in Cardinham will be Lower Treslea Farm, Pinsla & The Beeches, Avery Green.

Happy gardening, remember its good for you! Libby

Yes, definitely the Queen's Golden Jubilee and lots of lovely familiar faces. Clive in the centre of the back row, looking as if he is on stilts! – can't believe he was really so much taller than anyone else!? But then he was nearly a foot taller than me! All good wishes, June

CARDYNHAM CHURCH

Have you visited St Meubred's church?

For a service, an event or just to enjoy its peace or history? If so, you are in good company. A recent survey found that more than half of UK adults (54%) had visited a church in the past year. Of those a quarter (25%) visited for a religious service, one in five (22%) for a non-religious community activity, and one in six (17%) went as a visitor or tourist. That's an awful lot of visits. I wonder how St Meubred's compares? I know that our visitors book is full of fascinating comments from visitors and it isn't unusual to find someone visiting if I pop in during the week.

The same survey found that 73% of UK adults agree that churches are an important part of the UK's heritage and history. When asked what their top three choices would make them more likely to visit to enjoy a church's history, free entry came out top at 28%, somewhere to have a drink or a light snack next at 26%, then a warm welcome (25%), information about the building (24%) and knowing it was open every day (21%). You can visit St Meubred's for free everyday of the week during daylight hours. We have a leaflet about the church, we'd like to have tea and coffee making facilities, but our resident bats make this difficult. Mostly, you'll have the place to yourself, but we love having visitors, so if someone is around you might get an impromptu tour.

In many other countries, church upkeep is the responsibility of state or local government. In the UK there is no regular public funding for historic churches and chapels. We are very grateful for all our friends who help with our church. Especially the financial support of Friends of St Meubred's. Any money given for church upkeep is ring-fenced for this. We love our church. It is only here because generation after generation of Cardinham people have cared for it.

The church and churchyard take you into the deep history of Cardinham, reaching back 1400 years to the early Christian memorial stone by the gate, 1100 years to our lovely Cardinham cross by the porch, 900 years to the massive Norman stone font, 500 years to re-used stones from a shrine to St Meubred, 600 years to the Thomas Awmarle brass, 400 years to our three 17th century monuments, the King Charles letter, royal coat of arms and Glynn memorial. None would have survived without Cardinham people caring for them. Their future depends on us in our turn and on future generations.

The picture is of the Sedilia - the stone seats which reuse the inscription from St Meubred's shrine

Ann Kerridge

Cornwall Councillor Jenny Cruse

We have all just enjoyed the Coronation celebrations. Despite some rather tricky weather, all the communities in my ward came together for a grand show of community spirit. The Community Civic Service at St Petrocs on Sunday was very well attended with over 30 voluntary groups coming forward to light a candle. On Monday morning there was an event on The Folly in Bodmin entitled 'Lend a Hand' and to me this was something to celebrate, so many positive hard-working residents providing services to keep our community safe and inspired.

In the evening hubby and I helped cook at the Cardinham BBQ provided by our PC to a great turnout...an improvised gazebo worked well and saved us from soggy sausages and burgers.

Within all my wards there are so many caring and helpful residents who go that extra mile to put others first. Seeing all those good and caring folk was a tonic after the dreadful news in Bodmin. All the emergency and voluntary services reacted so professionally to the incident and have been there to assist and help those struggling with what happened. We have such a strong sense of community within our residents that this kind of action will only bring greater strength and resolve to make our area a great place to live.

In Cardinham, end of April, had some beautiful gardens open for the National Garden Scheme, and they were really looking stunning. A great reminder of how much pleasure and enjoyment can be gained from time in the garden and our beautiful countryside. We often forget how lucky we are living in such peaceful and uplifting surroundings. It is my belief that looking after our green spaces and our precious wildlife is of the utmost importance in our lives and I continue to hold that of great importance in all that I do.

Finally, just a reminder to put out all waste and recycling by 7am on the morning of collection whilst the new waste collection programmes are being rolled out. As always, do not hesitate to contact me for all Council matters.
